

I have used Google Geocoding API . The Geocoding API is a service that accepts a place as an address, latitude and longitude coordinates, or Place ID. It converts the address into latitude and longitude coordinates and a Place ID or converts latitude and longitude coordinates or a Place ID into an address.

Firstly I created a Google API service account and got the key from it then I used a simple python request to perform an API call to get data.

Screen short attracted please check.